

The Relationship Project

Moving from 'You and Me' to 'We.'

by Bill Strom

---

A principled and practical look at close relationships.

An easy-to-read book with biblical and research insights for getting along in marriage, friendships, and family living. Featuring chapters on:

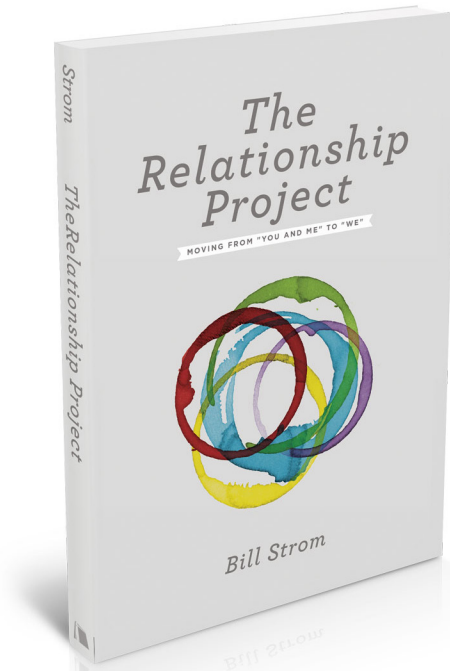

- Relationships: From Contract to Commitment to Covenant
- From Personal Virtue to Virtuous Relationships
- Self-Control as Master and Commander
- Humility as Rich Earth
- Work as Career and Relationships
- Committed Faithfulness As More Than Good Intentions
- Wisdom as Jesus' Call to Abundant Relating

*"I am constantly on the lookout for books to enrich my marriage, family, and friend relationships, as well as to provide insights to pass on in ministry. The Relationship Project handsomely delivers. Reading easily and enjoyably, it brims with insights and concrete examples. What a magnificent resource for small groups, marriage preparation and counselling, mentoring relationships, and sermon enrichment!"*

*Art Birch, Lead Pastor
Ross Road Community Church*

"This is an exceptional resource for anyone interested in growing in their relationships. Strom explains relational virtues in terms of self-control, humility, work, faithfulness and wisdom."

*Dr. Jennifer Ripley
Regent University*

Written with the thoughtful believer in mind.

Includes:

- Discussion questions for personal reflection and small groups
- Self-assessments
- Stories of everyday people in relationships
- Reference to biblical themes and passages

Bill Strom teaches at Trinity Western University in Langley, British Columbia, Canada. He earned his college degree at Wheaton College and doctorate at the University of Iowa. He has taught relational communication for over twenty-five years, and is married to Shelaine Strom, a career coach. They have three adult sons.

Order your copies from NPH.com, or by calling 1-800-877-0700

Related resources at www.billstrom.ca